Mill rate rises 8.1 per cent in AHM

Tax bill rises to $1,392,525 from $1,267,009 -- education levy rises

Deputy-Reeve Ed "Purse-strings" Pergolas appears to have lived up to his nickname after bringing down a budget that will see the Anson, Hindon and Minden mill rate increase by just 8.2 per cent, an increase of 41.7 mills across the board.

A special meeting was held last Thursday night to pass the budget, which according to the Deputy-Reeve, was not changed from its draft form of two weeks ago.

The increases are based on increases in the education levy (11.9 per cent), the county levy (11.7 per cent) and the municipal levy (5.2 per cent)...in all, a 41.7 mill increase in the general tax bill.

That compares with Dysart's 9.75 per cent tax bill increase announced last week. Although the municipal portion of the budget did not rise, the board of education portion rose by 30.8

mills and the county portion by 13 mills, for a net increase of 43.8 mills.

The AHM tax bill rises from $1,267,009 last year to $1,392,525 in 1983.

Anson, Hindon and Minden will contribute $846,599 to the county board of education, compared to $756,280 last year. As well, the county levy is up -- $146,603, compared to $131,224 last year. The municipal portion rose to $399,323, compared to $379,505.

The figures indicate that AHM is paying 61.5 per cent of its budget towards the board of education, 15.7 per cent to the county, and 28 per cent for its own municipal purposes.

The Dysart budget showed 62.6 per cent going to education, 15.7 per cent to the county, and 21.7 per cent for the municipality.

Board members questioned

Council questioned AHM board of education trustees Brian Sisson and Bonnie-Lee Berry extensively on the 12.6 increase in the board of education budget this year -- a budget that topped $7.6 million. Deputy-Reeve Pergolas said he felt AHM was paying too much to the board, and compared the county and board of education levies.

While AHM contributes 17.08 per cent of the county levy ($146,602) to Dysart et al's 38.12 per cent ($329,058), the numbers are different at the board of education level, he noted.

There, AHM contributes about 19.9 per cent of the county levy compared to 30.7 per cent in Dysart et al -- $846,599 compared to $1,306,153.

The deputy-Reeve feels AHM is paying too much for education. He pointed out that even if the board can hold its increase to five per cent in 1984, that will still mean an increase of over $380,000 in the total board budget.

"The dollar increase is the most important thing," explained Pergolas.

The trustees were asked to account for the percentage of the board's $7.6 million budget that is spent on salaries. The trustees declined to answer, referring council to the board itself, said Pergolas.

Figures released by the board Monday indicate that 61 per cent of the entire budget goes towards the cost of providing education -- salaries. When various administrative budgets are added on, that figure approaches 68 per cent (see separate story).

Under questioning, the trustees indicated that the jump in the board's budget was due mainly to a salary settlement of well over 12 per cent for teachers this year. The increase is in effect until September.

In all, said Pergolas, a "satisfying" discussion was carried out between the trustees and council.

They blamed the teachers salaries, proportionally smaller provincial grants, and the high cost of special education for the 12.6 per cent increase.

Pergolas remarked that in the past, teachers were "fighting for a 30 to 1 teacher/student ratio" and said that ratio is now about "16 to 1." The trustees pointed to the increase in specialized classes at the board.

The deputy-Reeve said it was interesting that Trustee Berry indicated teachers were at the "top of their salary levels now." That could either mean that no major increases in salary are in store for them, or that "we're paying the biggest buck possible for the job now," he said.

Wage settlement behind increase

A decrease in provincial funding, a "pre six and five" wage settlement with teachers, and the added cost of new programs are among the reasons the Haliburton County Board of Education budget topped the $7.6 million mark this year.

According to board administrator Stan Baker, this year's budget increased by 12.6 per cent over last year's. He explained that a wage settlement last year gave board teachers an approximate 12 per cent increase in salaries for the first eight months of 1983. The "six and five" measures will go into effect "from September to December" in 1983, he said.

Provincial grants, however, increased by just 8.3 per cent, despite differences between the two boards. The VCBE's total budget for the senior and elementary panels tops $28.4 million -- nearly four times the HCBE's budget.

Provincial grants make up 59 per cent of the total, followed by municipal education levies (39 per cent) and other sources (two per cent).

In Haliburton County provincial grants account for just 43 per cent of the $7.6 million total. Local taxpayers contribute 55 per cent of the total, while a further two per cent is attributed to "other sources" and "over/under levy."

All figures are rounded off to the nearest percentage point.

Haliburton County Board of Education the fact that the board had more mandatory programs -- like special education -- than in previous years.

Figures show that county rate-payers will foot approximately 55 per cent of this year's budget through education levies on their local tax bills.

In neighboring Victoria County, municipalities will contribute about 39 per cent of the total education budget -- but Baker said that a comparison between the two boards would be difficult, because of possible differences in provincial funding rates, variations in assessment, and over-under levy portions.

The difference in the municipal portions were, he said, "not surprising" considering the variable factors at play.

It seems, he added, that the provincial government "is shifting the costs" of new programs to ratepayers.

Differences

There are, indeed some major

Salaries are the biggest portion of both budgets. In Victoria County just over $20 million goes to "salaries and benefits." That's 70 per cent of the total budget.

According to data submitted by Baker, "day school regular courses" require $4.6 million to implement -- or 61.25 per cent of the total budget.

When other categories, such as business administration ($119,000), computer services ($7,700), general administration ($58,145), instructional administration ($126,800), school office administration ($133,315) and special education services and programs ($124,110) are added, the approximate total for administration and programming would be $5,224,941, about 68 per cent of the total budget.

As mentioned by Baker, this total is not necessarily comparable to the VCBE figure, since the specifics of Victoria's "salaries and benefits" category aren't available.

A reprieve for music fans?

It looks like classical music fans in the county have been given a reprieve.

CFMX-FM radio has been purchased by John Radford of Belleville, who says he plans to stick to the station's line of classical music programming. Radford's offer to purchase the station must first be approved by the Canadian Radio Television and Telecommunications Commission (CRTC) before a change can be made.

Leopoldina Dobrzensky, a member of the Haliburton County Chapter of the "Friends of CFMX-FM," said a letter of congratulations and support will be sent to Radford.

She encouraged local listeners to "drop a note" to Dr. John Meisel, the CRTC chairman, at the Place du Portage in Hull, Quebec.

She said the support shown through the letters would stress once more the need for an FM classical music station in this area.

MNR planning guidelines finalized

The long-awaited Ministry of Natural Resources planning guidelines -- which recommend new provincial parks, deal with cottage development on lakes now on Crown Land, and spell out forestry regulations -- are complete, and will be available locally by the end of the month.

Both Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Lyle McKnight and Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey are among the local officials awaiting more details.

A press release issued last week indicates that individual detailed guidelines for "42 of the ministry's 47 districts will be unveiled across the province by the end of the month."

The guidelines, according to natural resources minister Alan Pope, are not controls designed to supercede local official plans. "They are flexible, they may change as circumstances dictate, and they are subject to continued public input. With these guidelines, we will be able to make thoughtful, workable decisions within a framework for many years to come."

The work culminates 10 years of study and public participation.

Parks planned

Reeve McKnight said AHM's submission had asked whether or not a wilderness park might be created on some of the crown land in the municipality. Reeve Fearrey had complained, on behalf of Dysart and the county, that the nearest proposed provincial park would be located in an area east of the county that would not be of any benefit for local tourism.

The MNR release indicates that "the final planning documents will include 155 recommended park candidates including six wilderness, 35 natural environment, 25 waterway, 74 nature reserves, 12 recreation and three provincial parks."

Fishing and hunting would be allowed in about half the new parks, while mineral exploration and development would be allowed in 1/3 of the proposed new parks.

Some 250 lakes on crown land have been identified as having potential for tourism development. Available wood supply "will be reduced by only one per cent by the year 2000, in meeting the goals of the government's provincial parks policy," the release continues.

OPP report

During the period between May 30 and June 5 personnel at Minden Detachment investigated the following occurrences: 56 general occurrences, five break and enters, four thefts, two damage complaints, two liquor infractions, and eight domestic disputes.

There were five motor vehicle accidents with one minor injury.

Man sentenced

An incident which occurred on March 20, 1983, has resulted in a jail sentence of six months being handed out to a Toronto man.

Christopher Lindsay, 19, had been given a lift as he hitch-hiked near Kinmount. As they neared Minden, what appeared to be a gun butt was seen by the Minden-area driver, protruding from Lindsay's belt.

On the pretence of speaking with some pedestrians, the driver pulled to the shoulder of Highway 35 near Horseshoe Lake Road. The gun, which turned out to be a starter's pistol, was brandished by Lindsay who indicated he wanted to be driven further north. The driver jumped from the car and Lindsay slid behind the wheel and took off northbound.

The OPP at Minden were notified and Constables Jim Solway and Glenn Irving apprehended Lindsay in the stolen car at Hall's Lake.

In addition to the half-year jail term, Lindsay was placed on probation for two years.

Leave Crown lands unspoiled

The Minden district of the Ministry of Natural Resources contains more than 450,000 hectares of which about 150,000 hectares is made up of Crown lands and waters available for public use.

At this time of year many people are using these lands and waters for various summer recreational activities such as swimming, camping, canoeing, fishing and hiking. It should be noted that anyone may camp on unposted Crown land for up to 21 days per year free of charge.

Whatever the activity, it is always a pleasure to find recreation areas unspoiled. Unfortunately this is not always the case. Favorite spots are too often found littered with lunch refuse, bottles, tins, and other garbage. Each season many sites must be cleaned up by other concerned persons, or in many cases, by staff from the Ministry of Natural Resources. This is costly not only in terms of time and dollars, but also in the aesthetic and environmental impact.

How many times have you seen where thoughtless persons have left garbage and debris along your favorite trail or on the shore of your favorite fishing lake and muttered to yourself, "there ought to be a law?" Take heart! There is a law and if violators are caught, they can be prosecuted. There is provision under The Public Lands Act whereby an offender is liable to a fine of up to $500.

A genuine effort to ensure that recreational sites are left clean and tidy should be an accepted responsibility of all good recreationists.

After all, if you can pack it in full surely you can carry out the empty container. A good example to others in this regard may just be contagious.

seconded by J.S. Fraser that resolution number 83-61 be amended to read "that playground program assistants be hired as follows: Karen O'Brien - assistant at $2.88 per hour; Debbie Cox - assistant at $2.88 per hour. Carried.

• Moved by J.S. Fraser, seconded by W.G. Howe that Greer, Galloway and Associates Limited be engaged to draft plans for municipal office and library building at a cost to be mutually agreed upon whether by hourly rate or lump sum. Carried.

David Peterson:

Liberal leader speaks out on pornography, municipal rights

A crowd of Liberal well-wishers were not disappointed Saturday night as they packed the Lindsay armories to hear David Peterson speak.

The Liberal leader was the keynote speaker at the annual Victoria-Haliburton Liberal Association Spring Dinner and Dance. A crowd of well over 200 attended.

Peterson showed his disgust for the pornographic videotapes now available on the market...a problem that is growing, and is not confined solely to the cities.

The leader said he had considered such issues as freedom of expression, and the responsibility of the state in regulation, but had come to the conclusion "that there is absolutely no redeeming merit in having this kind of material available for distribution anywhere in this province."

The best way to change this situation, and put a check on the videotapes, would be to extend the power of the Ontario Board of Censors to monitor "commercially-produced videotapes and any other audio-visual adult materials which may appear on the market."

Currently, the censor board deals exclusively with film.

As well, said Peterson, "the federal government... (should) be encouraged to change the Criminal Code definition of obscenity to cover 'any publication, a characteristic of which is the undue exploitation of any one or more of the following subjects -- namely violence, crime, horror, cruelty, sex and human degradation.'" He also called for a criminal code amendment to define the exploitation of children as obscene.

The new porno tapes, he said, are "appalling, even frightening," and depict acts of violence against women on a level never known in the days of "stag films and girlie magazines."

"This isn't the old sexual stuff," he told reporters. "This is demeaning violence -- and what's worse, the women are always (depicted as) enjoying it." He denied that the raising of the issue was an attempt to make the provincial Liberal party seem more relevant in urban centres, saying that the issue "cuts across all boundaries."

Task force

Peterson also discussed the Liberal Task Force on rural issues, and talked about what impact the force's recommendations might have on future legislation.

He said the task force is funded totally by the provincial Liberals -- and the findings will direct the caucus to future decision making.

Peterson also agreed that the PC party may adopt some of the recommendations in future legislation.

"That would be fine," he told reporters. "They steal all our good ideas," he added. There's no point in shouting that "we thought of it first," he added.

Interest in the task force, chaired by John Eakins, has been running at a very high level, he added.

Growth

The Liberal leader told his partisan audience that he preferred to think of himself not as the leader of the opposition, but as the leader of the "government in waiting."

He compared his political career to that of John Eakins and Hugh O'Neill -- all members of the Liberal Class of 1975. Peterson was elected in former Premier John Robart's London-area seat, while Eakins was the first Liberal for many years in former Premier Leslie Frost's old riding.

Those victories, he said, prove that "there are no more safe seats for the Tories."

He looked at his caucus, composed on 32 males and one female, and said that the party needs "more competent women to run" as Liberals. That comment sparked an ovation.

Peterson told reporters that the Liberals are building "an efficient organization" across the province...

Liberal leader David Peterson told Victoria-Haliburton Liberals Saturday night that steps must be taken to exercise more control over pornographic videotapes. Peterson was the guest speaker at the Liberal party's annual spring dinner/dance, held in Lindsay.

in an attempt to increase their caucus size at Queen's Park. "We now have 33 hard working members of parliament," he said.

Peterson added that a "step by step" process will be needed if the Liberals hope to displace the Tories, who have been "around for the last 40 years."

Levity

The leader was introduced by Eakins and O'Neill, compatriots from the Liberal caucus. O'Neill drew a round of applause when he noted that politicians tend to "sit on the side of the bed and tell you how good it's going to be."

Eakins pointed out Peterson's credentials -- his election in 1975, job attainment of Queen's Counsel status in 1981, and his becoming Liberal leader last year.

"He has a genuine concern for those in all walks of life," said Eakins.

Chamber receives the President's Award for outstanding campaign

The Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce has been honored for the second time by the presentation of "The President's Award" at the 71st Ontario Chamber of Commerce convention in Sudbury. According to a Chamber release the award is presented for "outstanding achievement" and in particular was given to the Haliburton Chamber for their unique plastic bag promotional campaign which is publicizing events throughout the year which are occurring in Haliburton County. President Rhonda Elstone was on hand at the convention to accept the award from Ontario Chamber president Fred Ibey. Also receiving awards at this year's convention were Chambers of Commerce from Oakville, Belleville, Burlington and Simcoe.

Each year community Chambers are invited to submit programs in advance to the Ontario Chamber office for consideration for these awards. The Haliburton Highlands Chamber submitted the plastic bag program as something that was new and different, certainly original, and extremely cost effective. The idea originated with Chamber vice-president, Ken Langdon while having a conversation with Master Sac salesman, Mike Milne at his place of business. Once assured of the cooperation of Mike Milne in the program, Ken took his idea to the board of directors where it was unanimously approved and the wheels were set in motion.

It is anticipated that by the end of this summer there may be as many as four million bags circulating with the list of coming events for the year listed on one side. The publicity for coming side. The publicity for both Haliburton Highlands and the individual events that are listed on the bags will certainly be substantial and should result in increased turnouts to all of these events.

The last time the Chamber received the President's Award at a convention was in 1977. That award was given for the Chamber column which had just begun to be a regular feature in our local papers. A number of Chambers have since emulated this idea and it is expected that many will also be picking up on the plastic bag concept.

Eileen Morrison was one of the many volunteers out on Haliburton's main street last week, planting flowers. The new Haliburton horticultural group is behind the drive to beautify the village, and hope to add trees and planters at a later date.

• MNR study is awaited

Sand and gravel is also dealt with, but commercial fishing industries are not "directly" handled.

The guidelines are expected to arrive at the Minden District Office by June 27, according to the release.

Local concerns

Reeve Fearrey said he was glad to see the new guidelines "won't supercede local official plans," but added he would "need some time to have a look at it."

The reeve, on behalf of both the county and Dysart, had attended a packed open meeting in Toronto last year, to air local concerns about ministry recommendations. These included a provision for deer yards on private land, a planned provincial park's location, and the designation of some areas as hazard lands.

Reeve McKnight said he had mailed AHM's concerns to the ministry in the fall. Among these were the designation of flood plains in the village of Minden, and a call for consideration of the extensive amount of crown lands in the municipality.

"We haven't heard back from them yet -- we're going to have to wait and see what they're going to release," he said.

In the meantime, AHM has received verbal approval of the designation of Minden village as a "special policy area." That approval paved the way for the beginning of work on an official plan, and a contracting bid has been accepted by the municipality, he said.

A guideline to follow

The guidelines, according to Pope, are intended to allow "all Ontarians to participate in natural resources development to the greatest benefit of all."

In all, some 10,000 people attended public meetings, while 10,000 sent written submissions. A total of 3,300 people attended meetings -- such as the fall meeting in Toronto Reeve Fearrey spoke at -- that were presided over by Pope himself.

Some important concessions were made by the ministry following those meetings.

- that guidelines should not interfere with private property rights, nor should they undermine essential local planning control

- that the process helped to create a greater willingness amount interest groups to work cooperatively and to search for ways in which various resource uses can be balanced

- a wide consensus was reached, calling for agreement on such government policies and intentions as aggregate supply, wood supplies for our forest industry, and parks policy.

Full house in showroom for Curry Motors breakfast bash

There was a full house last Wednesday morning at Curry Motors for a birthday breakfast -- a delicious meal that got underway at 7 a.m. in the showroom.

The entire staff of Curry's, past and present, were on hand, as were officials from General Motors.

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey was the first guest speaker. He recalled that his "first association with Curry Motors was back in 1961, when I purchased a 1953 Chev from Joe (Iles) so I could go and work for GM in Oshawa."

He paid tribute to Ron Curry, who "in 1923 had the foresight" to deal in all four GM makes -- Chevrolet, Oldsmobile, Pontiac and Buick.

"There must have been some good times, and some difficult times over the years," mused the reeve. He jokingly added that during his stay at GM, the company was known as "Generous Motors" at contract time.

Thorne Bailey of General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC) brought greetings from his organization to those present. "We've been associated with Curry Motors for 60 years...and let's hope you have 60 more," he said.

Bailey, a cottage owner on Drag Lake, said the people of Curry's "have been really nice to me and my family over the years."

Dick Conlan relayed how he had got to the breakfast meeting -- by "racing up in a brand new 'Vette'."

He first dealt with Curry's "24 years ago, when bringing up a car" from his father's dealership.

Conlan wished all well, and noted that "outside the government...Curry Motors has to be one of the largest employers in the village."

President Don Popple received a plaque from Conlan marking Curry Motors 60 years in the business. He praised Ron Curry, Pete Curry, Len Salvatori and Joe Iles for all their fine work with the company. He also had kind words for the staff -- each of whom received a gift.

"There are a lot of cogs in the wheel," he said. "If one cog doesn't work, the wheel won't turn."

Waterway officials open Trent-Severn for navigation; levels drop

Trent Severn Waterway officials are reporting a drop in the rate of flow on system rivers -- and say water levels are "alright."

That's the latest from Mac Ellis of Trent Severn's water control department.

"The flow is still a little high on the Severn -- but it has dropped 50 per cent in the past week," he said. The lake level at Buckhorn Lake (which empties into the Otonabee, Rice Lake and the Trent River) is still "fairly high" but is improving.

Reservoir lake levels in Haliburton County are dropping, and we're "getting the flows down," he said.

Levels last week were at 100 per cent of full in area lakes. Gull and Burnt River flows had declined, but were still "running at nearly triple their normal June rates."

Ellis said work is now underway on a detailed report on the system in Haliburton County. Because of the amount of work required (examining dam structures and so on) it may be some time before the report is complete, he said.

Horticulturalists on the go

Haliburton's new horticultural group was hard at work last week, planting flowers in baskets along the main street of the village.

According to Brenda Petrow, the group wants to "bring (Haliburton) back to nature a bit" by adding some touches of color and life on Highland Street.

Last Wednesday volunteers planted annual flowers such as geraniums and marigolds, in half-barrel planters they had put in place earlier in the week.

Petrow felt that since the village "leans towards tourism" the addition of the flowers could only help Haliburton's appearance.

However, Coun. Dorothy Baker of Dysart et al told the Echo Monday that pranksters had unearthed the flowers repeatedly through the week.

She said she hoped the novelty of the new pursuit would wear off.

Petrow said she felt the horticultural group "will be a worthwhile cause, once it catches on." The fledgling group has plans to "do things" in Head Lake Park at the museum.

Another project that has been discussed is the possibility of permanent planters on the main street -- a move that would bring some trees back to the now-barren sidewalks of the street.

Volunteers are now looking after the flowers -- and more are needed, she said.

Cottage burns to the ground Saturday

A cottage belonging to Noel Griffin burned to the ground Saturday night -- and Dysart fire chief Howard Roberts is still not sure how the blaze started.

The alarm was turned in at 7:05 p.m. by the Griffins, who told firefighters that the log cottage was "well on its way" already. Although a Dysart pumper and utility truck were at

Tightening the belt again

Local municipalities are pointing the finger at the board of education, who are in turn pointing the finger at the province. It's tax time again -- and it looks like ratepayers in the county will have to shell out between eight and 10 per cent more, in most cases.

Municipalities like Dysart et al and Anson, Hindon and Minden feel the increases in the board of education budget drove their total tax bills up. Indeed Dysart trimmed their municipal portion of spending to a "no increase" level, while AHM and others kept to "six and five" levels.

The board says the increases were caused by a pre-inflation restraint program wage settlement with teachers, a salary increase of well over 12 per cent that will be in effect until September. While the board was tied to that increase, their provincial funding dropped proportionately. The burden of carrying on programs, they say, has been shifted onto the shoulders of ratepayers.

It will be very interesting to see what the county council makes of this line of defence when they meet later this month. Remember that council supported a resolution from another county calling for a flat limit of 50 per cent on education levies...in other words, that the municipal portion of your tax dollar could not exceed 50 cents.

The province, in turn, should perhaps bite the bullet and take a good, long look at the programs it is making local school boards introduce. Balancing the provincial budget should not mean simply reducing the level of grants to boards -- while expecting them to pay more.

The proposed French language program, if adopted as introduced in March, would put financial responsibility directly on the local boards.

If budgets are to be cut, then programs will have to be whittled down as well. We can't expect to carry on the same level of service with, in many cases, less provincial funding.

One proposed solution to this problem, suggested five years ago by the Association of Municipalities of Ontario, was to give local government a direct share of income tax revenue...say one per cent of the billions brought in.

That would give the junior level of government more say in its own budget planning. The province used to feel that local governments weren't capable of balancing their own books (hence the power to overturn municipal legislation, vested in the Ontario Municipal Board) but time has surely changed that fact.

In other words, in asking us to tighten our belts, don't take away our pants.

Tories must back new man

The Toronto Star feels David Crombie is the best man to lead the Progressive Conservative party into the next election. The Echo's prediction, based on a poll of the staff, is that Joe Clark will return to Stornaway and then, the Tories hope, lead a drive back to power.

It appears that John Crosbie's hopes rest solely on a shift of support from other candidates. Brian Mulroney, as well, is planning his platform on a second or third ballot swing of delegates.

Whatever happens, there's one lesson for the Progressive Conservative Party -- and that is that they must stand by their leader, whoever he is, through the thick and thin of the next federal election.

It's an unfortunate historic fact that the federal Tories have tended to dig their own political graves with infighting. Arguing and name-calling, while probably the tenets of free speech and democracy, don't appeal to voters as a whole. The bland, rather orchestrated conventions of the Liberal party -- where support builds to a peak, rather than being fragmented -- indicates that the Liberal dirty laundry is washed behind closed doors.

The Ontario PC party -- the party of record for more years than may of us have been alive -- also are well-versed at refining their public image.

Let's hope the best man wins -- the Tories, without a leader, are already miles ahead of Pierre Trudeau in the opinion polls. But don't count out the possibility of a new Liberal leader.

Red and White balloons at party

Like most people out there, I'm a politics fan.

I enjoy all levels of this fine art, be it local, provincial, or federal. What's most interesting, of course, is standing back and watching the entire process -- since for every action, there is an equal and opposite reaction.

The Liberals had their version of the Spring Fling in Lindsay Saturday night, and it was indeed the place to be for lovers of politics. Liberal leader David Peterson, who had apparently been on the run all day between different centres, managed to still sound eloquent after 12 hours of driving. He was ably assisted by Hugh O'Neill (Liberal MPP) and John Eakins.

There had been fireworks at the last riding association meeting I'd attended (back in Fenelon Falls in December) but this was not a business meeting as much as an enthusiastic get-together.

A crowd of well over 200 people, from all parts of the riding, jammed the Lindsay Armories. Red and white balloons had duly been attached to each chair, red and white streamers decorated the ceiling, and red and white wine was at each table.

The speeches were informative

Council should be "voice" of citizens

To the Editor:

I am writing in reference to County Council's decision concerning Hydro spraying in this area. In my opinion County Council has made a poor decision in deeming council office not being the place for debate on this issue.

I feel county council should be the "voice" of the residents in this area. Public opinion on this issue should be taken by council, before they make such a decision. If the general public are against Hydro's spraying, then I think county council should be the place to debate the issue.

County council members are voted into office by the people to make decisions on all matters that may affect us. Hydro's spraying of chemicals (Tordon Picloram) is, in my opinion, very hazardous to all who live and vacation in this area.

Therefore I feel county council's offices should be open to any debates or discussions concerning the health, livelihood, and welfare of the people who voted them into office.

Perhaps county council would like to review their decision on the Hydro spraying debate issue and show all of us that they really do indeed have our best interest at heart.

Chamber didn't "change stand"

To the Editor:

In order to clarify the misconception that the Chamber had "changed its stand" in regard to promoting cottage and residential development we enclose a copy of the letter that was sent to all municipal councils. It may be seen from this that there is really no "change," simply recognition that this is part of mandate, and that all parts of the county are invited to utilize the facilities of the Chamber for this purpose.

Rhonda Elstone
President

Dear Members of Council:

On April 26, 1983 the management committee of our Chamber met with Mr. Gary Kenney, councillor for Anson, Hindon and Minden. After a lengthy discussion we came to an agreement on one issue that had been at the bottom of Mr. Kennedy's recent criticisms of the Chamber. We agreed that the area of cottage and residential development has not been fully addressed by the Chamber, and that this area was indeed a part of our mandate. The fact that cottage and residential development has been somewhat neglected probably stems from the fact that no one has ever asked us to address this issue specifically -- until now.

As you are aware our marketing plans and budgets are set well in advance and we are presently just starting to implement the 83-84 plans that were set last fall. Therefore any major thrust towards addressing this problem area will have to be considered in the 84-85 marketing plans. In the meantime, recognizing the importance of this area the board has approved a move to set aside an area in the Welcome Center devoted to the theme "Haliburton Highlands" "The Better Place to Live." Preliminary plans include a county map showing subdivisions, serviced land and industrial sites plus an area for municipalities, developers, contractors and real estate agents to display their literature.

The whole problem of marketing cottage and residential development will be turned over to the Chamber Marketing Committee to fully address when they are developing their 84-85 marketing

Well, this is quite a busy weekend coming up. One of the big events will be the 5th annual Home and Vacation Show which will be held at the Arena in Haliburton this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 10, 11, 12. It doesn't take long for a year to roll around. What do you know, its that time again for Fun Night at the Victoria Street School in Haliburton this Friday evening, June 10, 1983. Everyone is welcome and the doors will open at 7:00 p.m. For those who are hungry we are told that hot dogs will go on sale at 6:30 p.m.

Skysliders will be happy to note that they are in for a fantastic Treasure Hunt Weekend. This weekend, with each ride on the slide you get a key which gives you a chance to try to open Skysliders Treasure Chest containing $50 cash and other surprises. This is your chance to have fun on Haliburton's Spectacular Slide Ride and also have the opportunity to win!

There has been more changes in the Haliburton business community. We learned this week that Rishor, Barnes, Dietrich Ltd., who have been located at the rear of the Red and White building on Highland Street, are moving to more spacious quarters in the former Boice Motors Building on Highway 121 and will be open for business there on June 15. Wes Good has taken over Steinberg's Fruit and Vegetable Market next to Brohm's Variety and has decorated the interior of the building with old antiques which are sure worth taking a look at. The business specializes in the selling of plants, fruits and vegetables. A used clothing store operating under the name of "Under the Rainbow" has opened up and is located in the former Radio Shack building.

Carol Finn of Haliburton was the guest speaker when the Rotary Club of Haliburton held their weekly meeting at the United Church in Haliburton last Thursday evening. Carol gave an excellent talk on the difference in, and the functions of The Guild of Fine Arts, the Rails' End Gallery and Sir Sandford Fleming College, which is the School of Fine Arts. Carol went on to explain that the Guild is not a group of practicing arts people, but a service club for them. The Gallery is hoping for full status with the Ontario Association of Art Galleries which will give them core funding from the Government to help with the large percentage of the administration costs.

Mrs. Marjory Levan of Kingston will be the guest speaker at Maple Lake United Church at 2 p.m. this Sunday, June 12, representing alcohol and drug concerns.

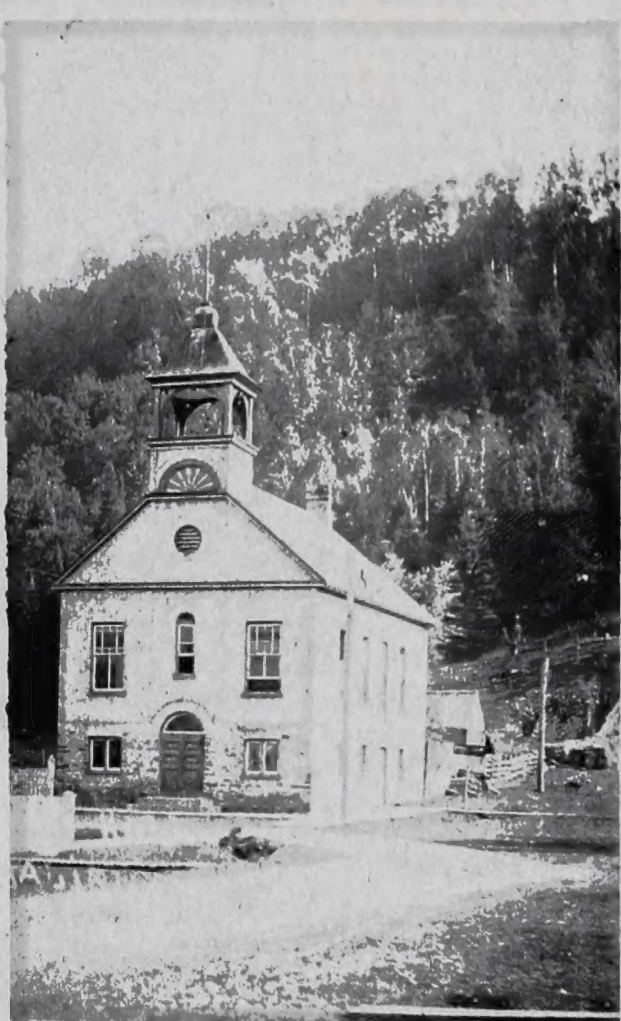

The Star Fresh Air Fund on Monday entered its 81st year with applications from more than 20,000 underprivileged children who will need your financial help in the coming weeks to enjoy a summer camp holiday. According to a write-up in the Toronto Star, about 2000 more youngsters than last year are hoping for some sort of vacation break that will allow them to escape the hot city in July and August. We here at the Echo hope that the people of Haliburton County will dig down and help this most worthy cause. We are all well of the good work done by the Star Fresh Air Fund in the past. Illahee Northwoods Camp (formerly Drag Lake Lodge), a unique Haliburton area spot that provides a camp for children with a variety of medical problems, is also operated by the Family Service Association with an assist from The Star Fresh Air Fund. According to the Toronto Star's Jane Anderson, intake supervisor, the Kidney Foundation would again set up the largest satellite pediatric dialysis unit in North America at the camp, allowing 35 youngsters who have suffered kidney failure to have fun on a regular camp holiday, while having access to dialysis machines.

Many Rotarians from Haliburton and Minden are in Toronto this week attending the Rotary International Convention which is being held at Maple Leaf Gardens. I was pleased to see that a plea to build bridges of friendship to unite people and to maintain peace in a nuclear world was made to the 15,000 delegates who attended the first day of the convention. This year's convention theme is "Mankind is One."

I got a real chuckle out of the wording on the front page of the May 28 issue of The War Cry -- Official Organ of the Salvation Army in Canada and Bermuda. Here is what it says. "Finding a happy marriage in TV's sit-coms and soap operas is like retrieving a contact lens on a sandy beach -- sissile but not likely."

Pic of the Past

Our thanks to Mrs. V. Chalmers of Burnt River, Ontario for submitting this photo showing the town Hall in Haliburton about 1920. In those bygone years the town hall was the meeting place for the entire community. On the second floor on many evenings the auditorium with its stage and balcony would be filled to capacity with the town people who would turn out in large numbers for variety shows, political meetings or what have you. In those days it acted as the Community Centre and in this era before the days of television everyone headed to this building for their recreation and entertainment. This building still stands but in recent years extensive renovations have been made to the interior and exterior of the building. It is now known as the Municipal Hall with modern offices on the main floor and new council chambers on the second floor.

Report from Parliament

Bill Scott, M.P.

Scott opposes plans for riding redistribution

Since the last census in 1981, the redistribution process, as required by law, has begun. This last happened before the 1979 election. The number of members increased from 264 to 282.

At that time, this was seen as a positive step toward ensuring that each member of parliament could better represent their constituents. Victoria-Haliburton changed slightly with the addition of the area in Georgina. I have always had good rapport with this area and this was a welcomed addition.

The new report of the Electoral Boundaries Commission for Ontario would reverse this and slightly alter three boundaries again. A number of complaints have been registered about this.

The actual number of seats that will be in the House if the current redistribution happens will be 310. This is 28 more Members. Back in 1976 when the last redistribution program took place there appeared to be no better way to increase the effectiveness of MPs. Now however, with the tremendous increase in options available due to the high technology revolution in Canada, this strategy is no longer necessarily the best.

As was pointed out in the House of Commons on May 27 by the Hon. Marcel Lambert, increasing by 28 the number of seats will mean increasing the cost to govern. In actuality, it would cost another approximately $4.1 million. This is far beyond reason. Providing additional research and secretarial assistance for members with larger constituencies would not even come close to matching this expenditure. At a time when a new network of word processing is being considered for use by members it does not make sense to also increase the number of members. Surely if it is successful, its benefits will far outweigh any benefit gained by increasing the number of seats.

A second point in opposition to this latest redistribution is the damage it could do to the effective operation of the House. Already with 282 members we see that it is difficult to proceed due to the number of speakers demanding their right to be heard. A further increase would make it virtually impossible for an individual member to be heard on every issue. Dismissing the sheer problem of where to put the extra 28 chairs, denial of a member's right to speak, would be an affront to the Parliamentary system.

I concur with many other members of all parties in their suggestion that this redistribution be cancelled or at least shelved for awhile as it was in 1973.

From the Chamber

Word about Haliburton County is "getting around"

The 71st Annual Ontario Chamber of Commerce Convention was held last week in Sudbury, Ontario and the red carpet was laid out in grand style by Sudbury residents for the delegates in attendance. It seems everyone in the area is dedicated to the cause of overcoming the negative image that Sudbury has had over the years, and replacing it with one of warmth and hospitality along with a very genuine pride in their community. Nowhere has the Ontario Chamber Convention received such a welcome from a host city.

One of the highlights for us of course, was the recognition accorded our Chamber by the presentation of the President's Award for "Outstanding Achievement". This award was presented to president, Rhonda Elstone at the final Chamber banquet for the unique plastic bag coming events program the Chamber initiated this year.

The policy session of the convention takes a full half day each year and involves consideration of recommendations provided by community chambers such as ours. This year there were 41 policy recommendations submitted. Our Chamber submitted four and all but one were adopted. This means that the Ontario Chamber executive committee will be doing further lobbying on our behalf in regard to these particular resolutions.

Two of our resolutions dealt with TV Ontario and ask that the province supply adequate funding so that the present level of educational programming could be maintained or exceeded, and that the network be further developed so that all persons living in the province have equal access to the signal. Another resolution was prepared in consultation with Haliburton Highlands Anti-Pollution Committee in regard to the limestone treatment of lakes. It recommended that "treatment should be commenced on drying, rather than dead lakes in order to both save the lakes and gather important data on the effects of the treatments of existing fish and wildlife. Treatments should also be done in the winter since that treatment (a) has proven more effective (b) is far less expensive (c) provides winter work in areas of high winter unemployment."

Our fourth resolution dealing with municipal tax rebates on private land utilized for approved forest management was not adopted. The resolution sought increased rebates to resident land owners and at least some rebate to non resident land owners who now receive no incentive. We were disappointed that this resolution was not adopted but our own Chamber will continue lobbying, in this regard.

Seven provincial cabinet ministers plus David Peterson, leader of the opposition, addressed the delegates during this convention and a common thread ran throughout all of their presentations. All agreed that the worst of the recession is over and expressed optimism about the future. The term "Lean and Mean" turned up a number of times in reference to the new look of many of the businesses that survived the recession. The bottom line was that there were many lessons learned or to be learned, by business and labor alike through these hardships, and with a new understanding and a spirit of cooperation we could achieve great things in the forthcoming years.

They're hearing about us

We were impressed when in Sudbury by the fact that we hardly ever meet anybody anymore that has never heard of Haliburton Highlands. Part of the reason, we would hope, is the major promotional activities the Chamber has been involved in as of late, but part of it also will be due to the type of publicity that some of our activities generated. Within the last few weeks a lot of media coverage was given to the unveiling ceremony featuring the Honorable Claude Bennett in front of our County office in Minden. The Toronto Star carried a picture of Bennett, County Clerk Win Lahay and Warden Bill Howe on this important day. CKCO TV carried the event and also did a feature story on our new Hospitality training centre in Haliburton Village. The Gloe and Mail has also done two articles on our area very recently, and Bruce Potter, our former tourism consultant was interviewed on CKPT in Peterborough and had some extremely nice things to say on our County.

Every little bit helps.

White water dates changed again

The high water levels in the Minden area have been causing no end of problems to residents and businesses and cottagers. They have also had a great deal of difficulty at the Minden White Water Park trying to hold their annual Slalom competition. They have been twice scheduled and twice postponed because the rate of water flow is far too high to carry out the competition with a reasonable degree of safety. They are now scheduled for the weekend of June 18 and 19 with the practice runs on the afternoon of the 18 and the competition running from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on the 19th. They have promised to advise the Chamber of any last minute changes in this schedule so anyone wishing to confirm these times is invited to contact the Chamber of Commerce for this purpose.

This and That

Congratulations to Curry Motors presently their 60th Anniversary of doing business in the Highlands. They have certainly been a major force in the development of Haliburton over the past 60 years and we expect they will continue to do so for at least the next 60.

Those driving past the PineStone Inn over the last few weeks have noticed what appears to be some cottages being built around PineStone Lake. Actually the building that can be seen to the east of the main hotel is an addition to their golf clubhouse which we understand will provide golfers with their own lounge facilities. The other buildings to the west are the new executive chalet units which are designed to provide more of a resort atmosphere coupled with a good degree of luxury.

The Beaverbrook Golf Course in Minden is now putting the finishing touches on their new dining room and clubhouse and will be holding their official opening on July 1.

Bonnie View Inn has now been sold and new owners, Margaret and John Salmon will be taking over operations as of June 15. They are moving to the Highlands from Orillia and they are looking forward with great anticipation to their venture into the resort industry. We hope you will join us in welcoming them to the community.

It seems like everyday there's something new at the Brown Owl, first it was their salad bar which appeared in the owl's nest then within a few days new comfortable seating adorned the same area. Now a buffet counter has been added for hot meals, luncheons and breakfasts and a new sign has just been erected out by the gas pumps. Haliburton County now has its first Petro Canada gas outlet.

Across the road at the Red and White plaza all the stores now have tenants. The latest business to move in is Moynes Furniture Warehouse, who feature a complete line of home furnishings, new or used and they buy, sell, or trade. They do have a fine selection in their new facilities and we certainly welcome Bob and Mary to our business community. Please drop in and say hello and welcome them.

Tartan Crafts is a part time business operated by Mary Hincks, who incidentally is a sister of our county clerk Win Lahay. Mary and her husband have purchased a cottage on Lake Kashagawigamog and she is developing the most interesting selection of Tartan gifts featuring, of course, our Haliburton Tartan. She presently has hasty-notes, two small dolls address books and a wall plaque. Her products are available at Paulettes, Sandalwood, Brohms, the Nuthatch and Pine Shop. Others interested in carrying her products may reach her in Haliburton at 457-2516 or Newmarket 898-4801.

See you at the show

This weekend the Kinsmen Home and Cottage show gets underway at the arena on Friday afternoon. The Chamber will be there and we will be featuring discount coupon books for the brand new "Shop and Deal in the Highlands" campaign. Be sure and drop by to find out all about

Liberals speaking out on pornography issue

Our caucus has endorsed in principle the Report on Pornography and Censorship of our Ontario Women's Perspective Advisory Committee. As David Peterson pointed out at his news conference on the question, there are appalling -- even frightening -- differences between much of today's pornographic material and the comparatively harmless 'old-fashioned' soft porn of a few years ago. There is absolutely no comparison between the stag movies and 'girlie' magazines of yesterday and the violent, degrading, bestial type of pornographic material which is now available...material which is totally offensive to the majority of men as well as to women.

In the course of presenting its report and recommendations to our caucus, the advisory committee arranged a meeting between caucus members and police officers from Metro's "Project P." Caucus members were brought shockingly up-to-date with recent developments in the field of pornography.

In coming to grips with the growing menace of the "new" pornography, we must give urgent attention to the complex question of developing an effective method of reconciling the crucial and urgent need to tackle this problem head on and our inherent abhorrence, as a democratic society, of the concept of censorship, with all that entails.

The advisory committee recommended changes in the definition of "obscene" under Canada's Criminal Code, and in the Customs Tariff Act which covers entrance of materials into Canada. At the provincial level, it called for the attorney-general to exercise his prosecutorial discretion to prefer indictment and consider greater penalties in the interests of general and specific deterrence. Similarly, the Solicitor-General should exercise his responsibility over law enforcement to enforce more aggressively the provision of Section 168 of the Code, particularly with respect to broadcasters and film-makers. Also recommended is amendment of the Municipal Act to make its provisions mandatory rather than permissive, and opaque barriers at a height of no less than five feet for adult publications.

It's recommended that the jurisdiction of the Ontario Board of Censors be extended to include commercially produced videotapes.

David Peterson called for the immediate establishment of a Select Committee charged with developing guidelines for "community stan-

Lumber wins both games -- big!

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

Men's fastball league action last week saw some pitching duels and some festive slaughters, as scores ranged from 2-0 to 15-3.

Curry Motors 2, Beachli Construction 0

Curry's drew first blood in the top of inning number one, when Barry Boice singled with one out. Barry Shaw doubled him home, and it was 1-0 Curry's.

What ensued was a duel between Shaw and Mark Schell. No more runs came across until the fourth, when Shaw, leading off, drew a base on balls. Scott Arbuthnot's two-out single scored him, making it 2-0.

In the bottom of the seventh Beachli's, with last bat, came close to breaking the shutout. In the sixth Sisson was stranded at third.

With one down in the seventh John Robinson walked and stole two bases.

Carpenter walked and stole -- but Shaw retired the last two batters to preserve the win.

It was a three-hit shutout for Shaw, with six strikeouts. Schell allowed four hits while striking out seven.

Haliburton Lumber 10, Legion 0

The "mercy" rule came into effect in the Tuesday nightcap. After Legion were retired in order in the first, Haliburton Lumber started things off. Jim Winn singled and stole second, advancing to third on a groundout by Bob Johnston. Bernie Nicholls' sacrifice made it 1-0.

In the bottom of the second Kevin Newell singled. Kelly Mitchell tripled him home, and a single by Dwayne Lewis delivered Mitchell. It was 3-0 after two.

In the third Johnston tripled things off. Nicholls followed with yet another triple, making it 4-0. After Lee Bull walked Mike Hatkoski slammed the third triple of the inning, and Bull and Nicholls strolled home. Newell's ground out brought home Hatkoski, and it was 7-0 after three.

Winn singled to lead off the Lumber fourth, and was doubled in by Johnston. After Nicholls popped out Bull stroked a single to bring in Johnston. Hatkoski and Newell followed with singles, and Mitchell walked, scoring Bull. A double play ended the inning, but it was 10-0. When Legion couldn't score in the fifth, the game was called.

It was a four-hit shutout for Haliburton Lumber.

Curry Motors 7, Kennedy Surplus 6

The first contest last Thursday was a tight one indeed. After Curry's failed to score in the first, Kennedy's Brian Mulholland led off with a triple to start things off.

Dwight Sisson scored him with a one-out single. Gerry Walker walked, and Sisson came home on a Roger Hicks groundout. After one it was 2-0 for Kennedy's.

In the third Shawn Gilligan tripled to lead off, scoring later on an error. Bernie Upton, who had reached on the error and stolen two bases, also came across to tie the game.

Derrell Stamp singled in the Curry fourth, advancing when Scott Arbuthnot walked. With one out Peter Fearrey doubled home Stamp, but Arbuthnot and he were stranded as the inning ended.

Upton singled and advanced on an error to lead off the fifth. Barry Shaw delivered him with a double, and came home when Stamp followed suit. Curry's loaded the bases, but led by 5-2 when the inning ended.

With two out in the Kennedy fifth Bill Mulholland reached on an error. Brian Mulholland followed with a single and a stolen base and Derwin Barry reached on an error, scoring Bill. Brian came home on a Dwight Sisson single, and it was 5-4 after five.

After Curry's failed to score in the sixth, Gerry Walker led off with a single in the Kennedy's sixth. Roger Hicks walked to follow him, and both scored before the inning ended, giving Kennedy's a 6-5 lead.

But in the seventh Stamp singled for Curry's. A one-out double by John Parish delivered him.

Peter Fearrey's clutch single delivered the winning run.

Kennedy's stranded two in their seventh, and the game ended 7-6.

Haliburton Lumber 15, Beachli Construction 3

Pitcher Mark Schell's ejection from the game resulted in a landslide win for Lumber, whose hot bats were too much for Beachli's to handle.

Schell doubled in the top of the first, stole third and was delivered by Robinson's single after a Mike Carpenter walk. It was 1-0 after one.

In the bottom of the third Mike Hatkoski homered. With two out Bernie Nicholls singled and was driven in by a Lee Bull single.

In the fourth Kevin Newell singled, and advanced on a single by Art Dawson. Rod Sisson's bunt single scored Newell, and it was 3-1.

In the fifth Lee Bull doubled with one out. Jim Winn walked, Kevin Newell singled, scoring Bull. Eldon Bull singled, scoring Winn. Rod Sisson walked, and Hatkoski doubled in Bull and Newell. Sisson also scored to complete the five-run upsurge, and make the score 8-1 after five.

In the top of the sixth Wayne Speicher singled, Jeff Carpenter walked, and Bob Nichol singled scoring Speicher. Kevin Sisson singled in Carpenter, and it was 8-3.

But in the bottom of the sixth Nicholls doubled, Bull doubled, Winn walked, Robinson walked, Eldon Bull doubled, Rod Sisson walked, Mike Hatkoski doubled, Bob Johnston doubled, and Bernie Nicholls doubled -- resulting in seven more runs. That's how it ended...15-3.

Haliburton County's soccer team finally got on the board last Sunday, but surrendered five goals to a game club from Huntsville and lost 5-1. The soccer team features players from Minden and Haliburton. The match was played at the HHSS field.

First goal for soccer club

The Haliburton County soccer team was greatly encouraged by the number of spectators at their game on Sunday. The score wasn't as encouraging but there are a number of good athletes on the team and it will be interesting to watch them improve.

Andrew Shapiera has begun to take charge of the defence from his position in goal. Tim Davies can clear the ball well with his powerful kicks from his fullback position. Ivor Thompson, as the captain and our most experienced player, controls the ball well for us in the midfield. Kevin Warburton shows good determination in attack and defence.

As in the last game, it is apparent that the team needs to gain confidence as a unit to pass the ball effectively. It also needs to become more aware of changing game situations. Particularly when the opposition gets the ball everyone must move quickly to find and cover the opponent for whom he is responsible. "Mark your man" is the soccer phrase.

In the second half they increased their lead to win 5-1.

On another subject, Sonya Holliday-Rhodes of Minden and Al Jopling of Kinmount have assembled mixed teams of boys and girls up to about age 14. We plan to do the same in Haliburton soon. Some younger high school boys about 14-16 years of age have expressed an interest in organizing a team to play exhibition games with league teams from Peterborough, Bracebridge and Huntsville. If you want further information on these subjects phone Jim Milne at 457-1848.

Minden Seniors continue to rack up wins

by LORI DEAN

The Minden Seniors continue winning in the Haliburton County Ladies Softball League. They won their third game of the schedule last Monday night as they bounced the Minden Juniors to the tune of 15-10. The Seniors had a good night at the plate from Rhonda Wilson, Lori Brown and Lorna Brown with Ann Hewson claiming the win.

On the other side of the score book the Minden

Juniors were pleased to have Anita Beaver and Darlene Pettis on their side as they both had a good night at the plate. Andrea Burk and Cheryl Dillin took the loss for the Juniors.

Wednesday night West Guilford travelled to Haliburton to take on the Juniors in the first late scheduled game of the season. The game was well played for the first five innings but the bottom fell out for Haliburton as Cheryl Cooper and Michelle Rosenberg picked up hot bats.

Pam Iles had a hot bat of her own as she scored two runs for Haliburton. Joan McKay was the winning pitcher for Guilford while Marg Smith took the loss. Final score was 13-4 for West Guilford.

Also on Wednesday night the much improved Wilberforce ladies took on the Minden Juniors in a very exciting game played in Wilberforce.

Minden took a three-run lead in the first inning on runs by Wendy B., Anita Beaver and Darlene Pettis but Wilberforce fought back and matched their three runs in the third inning. That's when Kris Storey went to work and belted a home run and added two triples to help Wilberforce to a 10-9 win. Caroline Andrus pulled off a spectacular right field catch to end the game. The winning pitcher was Sue Musclove while Andrea Burk took the loss.

Two rained out games from last week will be played at a later date.

HHSS squash championship featured tough competition from players

The HHSS squash championships were held last Wednesday at the Highlands Squash Club.

Gary Vanderstarren edged Kelly Mitchell for the mens' title. That final probed a tough match, with fitness and shot-making proving to be the decisive factors.

Mitchell had advanced to the final by beating Rick Choy 3-2, after fighting back from a 0-2 deficit.

Vanderstarren edged Duff Mitchell in the other semifinal.

In men's consolation play Scooter Burgess dropped Dennis McKee.

In the womens' draw

Kathy Mosgrove is to be congratulated for her win over runner-up Janice Emerson. Lisa Malott was the victor over Angela Gough in women's consolation round action.

All the participants had a fine time. A great deal was learned about the game, and much pizza was consumed.

Congratulations to all the players.

Dufour Wing Halimar Regatta a success this week

Here are the results of the Dufour Wing Halimar Regatta, held over the weekend on Lake Kashagawigamog.

Women's first place went to Wendy Ramsey of Haliburton. Susan Wisswell of Toronto was second, and Peggy Lalor of Banff was third.

In men's light category Joan Houghton of Toronto was the winner. Dr. Blair

Tournament is a success

The action was fast -- so fast that the judges, just inches away, were often unable to make a call.

A fascinating exhibition of the martial arts was held Sunday at HHSS, with good attendance by three local groups.

According to Gary Stephenson of the Minden Fitness and Self-Defence club, the turnout was "excellent for a first time event." Fun, he said, was stressed -- this was interclub competition, rather than an all-out tournament. Basically, the competitors faced each other in a 12-foot square and tried to score points for kicks and punches. The competitors wore protective gloves and boots, and the "contact area" was limited to the upper body. Blows to the head were allowed, but could only be touches, rather than full hits.

In all the field of competition, the winners were: Gary Vanderstarren, Kelly Mitchell, Scooter Burgess, Dennis McKee, Kathy Mosgrove, Lisa Malott, Angela Gough, Wendy Ramsey, Susan Wisswell, Peggy Lalor.

The snapping turtle -- an ancient, historic beast

by RON REID
Fed. of Ont. Naturalists
Few Ontario animals look so ancient as the snapping turtle. As its mossy back and sharp-ridged tail slowly emerges from the murky waters of a marsh, a snapping turtle could fit right in with the steamy swamps of the dinosaurs. In fact, research done by Ontario scientist Martyn Obbard suggests that we are pushing our snappers in the same direction as their long-extinct dinosaur relatives. Obbard has been studying the snapping turtles in part of Algonquin Park, and has turned up a fascinating life history. After emerging from deep in the mud where they spend eight months of the year, the turtles establish home ranges in shallow water. Most of their food is vegetation, but the strong jaws of a snapper will ambush a frog or minnow if one happens nearby. Snapping turtles are long-lived, up to 25 or 30 years, but they seldom produce young before the age of eight. These turtles lay eggs in sandy banks, and Obbard found that some females in his study area travel up to five miles just to nest. Once the 30 or so eggs are buried in sand, the mother returns to her marsh. Almost half of the nests are ransacked the first night by foxes and raccoons. Since the eggs need 90-120 days in the warm sand to incubate, many of the young fail to emerge before winter and are killed by frost. Amazingly, the sex of the turtles that hatch is determined not by the parents, but by the temperature of the sand - the warmer the sand, the higher the percentage of females. Snapping turtles in recent years have become much sought after as a gourmet delicacy, and the annual take in the Lindsay district alone is 25-30 tons per year. Almost all of this turtle-trapping is done by Americans, whose native waters have already been cleaned out of snapping turtles. Obbard warns that a population such as this, which normally is very slow to reproduce and which has low natural mortality of adults.

Local competitors fared extremely well in weekend wind surfing events held on Kashagawigamog Lake. There were three classes run -- women's, men's light, and men's heavy. Winners appear elsewhere on the sports page.

petitors -- ranging from aged 12 and under to adult black-belters -- abided by the rules, and the matches were very clean.

As mentioned, there was one judge at each corner of the square. In order for a hit to be registered, three of the four would have to score it. Often, one or two judges did not see the blow, because it came so quickly. Men and women competed together, in the same classes.

No one was hurt at all, and the demonstration showed more the high fitness level of the competitors than any brute force. The martial arts -- karate and kung fu -- are a discipline that can be followed for life.

Local winners included (in under-12 consolation action) Emlyn Rossowski and Kalala Rossowski, who placed first and third; and Don Schlosser and Kendall Mintz, who placed first and second in junior competition.

The junior consolation winner was Greg Foran.

In senior white belt competition Mike Corvett was first; with Steve Swinson winning the consolation title. Rusty Thornback was third in orange belt competition.

The green belt championship match was between friends Steve Wrightman of West Guilford and Paul Aggett of Minden. Wrightman was the winner.

Clubs from Barrie and Orillia also took part. Wong's Karate, from Orillia, and Innisfil Karate Club made the trip.

Derwin Barry of Kennedy Surplus concentrates on an incoming pitch. He hit a single here, but his team lost 7-6 to Curry Motors in a close match last Thursday night. The game was decided in the seventh inning.

Exercise caution when out boating

Your first time out in a boat each year is potentially the most dangerous.

Why? Because your boating skills are rusty or even forgotten. Because the water is colder early in the year and an unexpected dunking can have disastrous results. Because your sailboat, canoe, motorboat or rowboat may not be quite as seaworthy as you remember.

Thirty-eight per cent of drownings in Canada are boat-related, and a large proportion of these drownings occur in the spring. That's why the Canadian Red Cross Society recommends you take a few, simple steps now to ensure a long, happy and safe boating season.

Carefully inspect your craft for leaks or other forms of deterioration. Is your motor in working order? Ensure oars and paddles are not waterlogged or cracked.

You are required by law to have one government-approved lifejacket or personal flotation device (PFD) for each person on board. Check for tears, buoyancy and fit. Lifejackets, just like clothes, can be outgrown or worn out.

In addition to your PFDs or lifejackets, have on board all safety equipment required by law for boats 5.5 meters long or less: a bailing device; two oars and oarlocks or two paddles; a sound signal, e.g. whistle; and a fire extinguisher if the boat has an inboard motor, permanently fixed or built-in fuel tanks or a cooking or heating appliance that burns liquid or gaseous fuel.

He wants the Committee to report to the Legislature immediately it reconvenes in the fall, and to hear witnesses from all sectors. Dear readers, by the time this letter reaches you we will be in the month of June, it always was the month for brides and grooms. All this is changed now, we wonder why, many couples are being married now in August or July.

Service in the chapel Sunday night as usual, Harold and Ruth Thompson took the first part and we thought things were going well, the Rev. Burgess took over and said "don't go to hell."

He said it is a desperate place so hot you almost fry, (read Luke 16 verse 23) strive for higher things above, like mansions in the sky. We wish the sun would shine and the weather would warm up so that we could sit and relax in our new gazebo. It was nice to have a visit with Leslie and Nina Prentice who farmed across from Hyland Crest for a good many years, he kept black polled cattle and I used to buy his steers.

My wife was driven to the dentist by Nurse Wood, she said to me "come along, there is plenty room, the drive will do you good; besides there is something I want you both to see." It was a beautiful flowering crab tree and the tulips at the post office -- a sight to see.

Tuesday on this last day of May, Rev. John James of Haliburton came down to take the service here today.

We thank him for coming to do his part. He said "man looks on the outside but God looks on the heart." Our girls came to play and sing, a real jolly pair, Barbara looks so different since she cut her hair.

After being absent several weeks Everett Fearrey and his daughter Tara Lynn came on Tuesday night to play and sing again. We enjoyed them very much and look forward, when they will come to play and sing again.

Ted Carr isn't making model trains since they have removed all the tracks, now he is making lovely card racks. It was nice to see Doris again this lovely June day, she is so anxious to get back to work, she just can't stay away. We had Tammy Alton back for a while, she helps serve tables with a cute little smile.

Thursday morning we watched a very interesting movie, "Across the Great Divide," good entertainment they always provide for us.

On the second day of June the ladies from Saint Margaret's Church in Wilberforce, brought in a lovely lunch in the afternoon. Some residents say they are put-

Editor's Note: The enclosed poem was written after Mrs. Goff had taken part in a church service on an Indian Reserve where Louis The Brave (her nickname for him) was the church caretaker and bell-ringer. "He was a devoted, dedicated older man with a great big heart and a thirst to match."

Louis the Brave

God made the country
Man made the town
White man furnished the alcohol
Which brought some Indians down.

We all owe an apology
To the Indians today;
We owe a greater debt to them
Than we could ever pay.

We've darkened their sparkling waters
And slain their forest green;
They'd been kinder to the land
Then we have ever seen.

O Great Spirit grant them the grace
To forgive us for our sin,
And welcome them with open arms -
And let's begin again.

Raab masters an intricate art

The art of George Raab is as beautiful as it is technically advanced.

The French-born printmaker uses a variety of techniques -- including etching and burning (with acid) zinc and copper plates to create beautifully intricate landscapes, portraits and book illustrations.

The young artist, who has shown his work often in the area, was on hand Sunday afternoon for the opening of a one-man show at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton.

He has been here before, to show his art and to teach at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts. The artist, educated in Toronto, now works out of a studio in Millbrook, near Peterborough.

There are three methods of creating an image on a plate. The artist can engrave directly into the plate, with an engraving tool; he can etch the plate -- letting acids "bite" lines into it; or he can "acquaint" it.

The latter method involves the application of rosin to a plate, which fuses into a rippled pattern when immersed in acid. The result is, said Raab, "a sandpaper-like texture" on the finished print.

Printmaking is a very old technique, and was used by such artists as Albrecht Dürer and Rembrandt," he said.

Until very recently, the same techniques were used

Peterborough-area artist George Raab, a printmaker, gave Rails' End Gallery-goers an interesting talk on the technique and inspiration for his finely-detailed work Sunday afternoon. Raab's show continues this month at the gallery, located in Haliburton village.

At the Rails' End

Printmaking

Raab worked in other media before deciding on printing from plates. He drew, painted, and worked in "serigraphy" (silk-screen printing) before turning to printmaking.

He uses photography "as a tool" to capture the reality of a scene or situation, and then alters the image when making his plates.

"The photograph is a reference...it captures the details, but I can manipulate (the plate) by hand to capture the feeling of the scene," he said.

He works in "intaglio" printmaking. The term indicates that the plate is a "negative" image of the finished print -- a different system than "relief" printmaking, from wood blocks.

to illustrate books and newspapers, he added.

The silence

Raab told the opening day crowd that his goal in art is to capture "the silence" of a scene. Some of the prints take up to three weeks to create, he added.

One of the crowing glories of the Rails' End show is a display of illustrations from a book of poetry, called "Words of the Elephant Man." Raab and a poet took the tale of John Merrick, the hideously deformed man who became the toast of Victorian England, and created the book.

Raab said the techniques he used were nearly exactly those used in the late 19th century, when Merrick was alive.

Eakins calls for long look at liquor issues

Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins wants the government to take along, hard look at the use and abuse of alcohol in Ontario.

The Liberal MPP released a statement last week indicating his views on the subject.

"I have filed with the clerk of the Legislature a resolution calling for a comprehensive study of the use and abuse of alcohol in Ontario," states Eakins.

"The time has come to stop dealing with the question of alcohol in an ad hoc manner. Every day we pick up the newspaper, or turn on our radio or TV, we hear of tragedy created by the use or abuse of consuming alcohol in this province."

"On the other hand, the tourism and hospitality industries must go cap in hand to the Cabinet for changes they feel are necessary for the orderly growth of their industries."

Resolution

Eakins' resolution called for "a comprehensive study (to be initiated by this Legislature to review the expressed concerns associated with the use and abuse of alcohol in Ontario. The review should address

- the mandates of the LCBO and LLBO with respect to distribution and licencing
- the concerns expressed by Ontario's tourism and hospitality industry with regard to the need for revision of hours of sale, in costs, and so on

- a review of the legislation and the enforcement of such legislation dealing with violations of the abuse of alcohol
- the current and future role and funding of detox centres
- the current and future role of the Addiction Research Foundation
- industry advertising

The MPP also asked that this review "be open and that the public's participation be encouraged."

Thursday night is bingo night here at Hyland Crest, members of the Kinsmen Club are our special guests. This week it was Mr. and Mrs. Tom Prentice and the bank manager and wife. I didn't get their names but we thank you for coming and managing the games.

Friday Amelia Good had a grand day, everything turned out fine, her sister Bertha and daughter Irene came and took her out to dine. Bertha lives in Cambridge and her daughter in Guelph, Ontario. They had a splendid day together and Amelia was all aglow.

Friday afternoon is sing song day, Grace Coburn came in from just across the way and Fred Ballard came to play the organ. Grace read some funny poems, "Hot mince pie", "A new car" and humorous things like that. To these entertainers we take off our hat.

The Ricky Danilko's are filled with glee. They have added a branch to the family tree. They are tickled to pieces and filled with joy for they are the proud parents of a baby boy. Congratulations we all send to you, not only to mother but the proud daddy too.

Heart of Love

There is beauty in the forest when the trees are grown and fair, There is beauty in the meadow when the wild flowers scent the air, There is beauty in the sunlight and the soft blue beams above, Oh the world is full of beauty, when the heart is full of love.

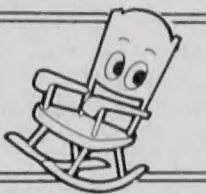

Kinmount UCW meet

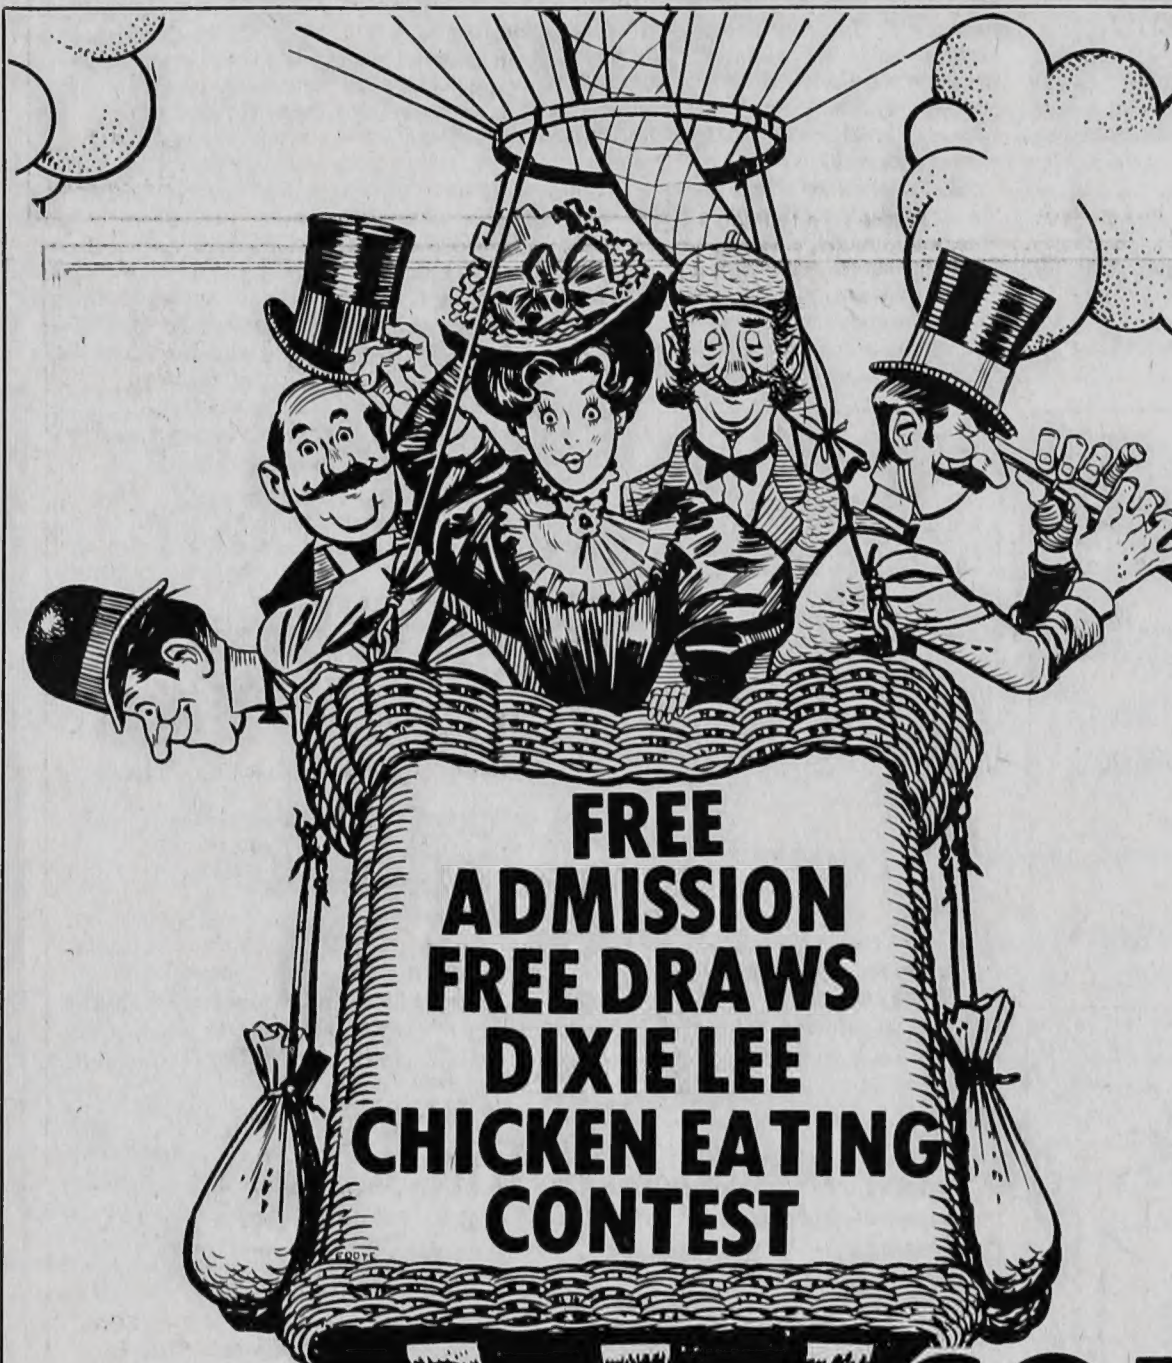

On Wednesday, June 1, the Kinmount UCW met at the home of Mrs. Joyce Brown. A special Devotional service was held. President, Mrs. Jane Dettman welcomed our Presbyterial President, Mrs. Thea Brandsma and guests Mrs. Lavna West and Mrs. Sheila Mitchell.

in recognition for her years of service to Kinmount United Church. Mrs. Sherman was deeply moved and said how much this honor meant to her and that she would continue to serve her Lord through her church work.

After attending to business, the meeting closed with the hymn "God be with you" and the Mizpah. A tasty lunch was served by the members and everyone enjoyed the special occasion.

Create jobs in weed control: reader

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial on the subject of roadside spraying of 2, 4, D and Tordon by Hydro was much appreciated. However I must point out that an open forum wherein Hydro and our small group discuss this problem is somewhat futile. In the first place, Hydro has never shown the slightest interest in conservation on any level and indeed has a record of disregarding any and all conservation groups' requests or recommendations.

The MTC, on the other hand, goes to some extremes to meet the legitimate fears of the public. For example, it does not use Tordon because of its known carcinogenic nature. Its spray equipment is more sophisticated than Hydro's and in order to avoid "drift" it uses a gel form of 2, 4, D. Furthermore it is studying the whole spray problem in an effort to reduce the number of spray occurrences and to avoid completely any water source contamination.

What Hydro fails to mention in any discussion is the well-established fact that although 2, 4, D may be a controversial chemical, its breakdown product (chlorinated phenols) are known to be extremely hazardous to both fauna and man.

Finally, the data on 2, 4, D itself according to a recent article in "McLeans" has forced a number of American states, Sweden, Saskatchewan and British Columbia to ban this material.

If there was no answer to the problem Hydro might have a small point but there are well-established cost flow sheets that show that using our unemployed to brush out rights-of-way with chain saws is cheaper, more effective on a time basis and does not leave a residue of ugly dead foliage along our highways.

By employing our out-of-work youth we save the taxpayers of Ontario a large amount of money, we give frustrated and desperate young people the joy of useful work and we reduce the chance that down the road the effects of 2, 4, D will maim or kill both our fauna and ourselves.

and entertaining (see separate story) but what was even more interesting was the interaction of people. One very well-known Haliburton and Minden businessman was present, and was defensive when asked if he was a Liberal.

He said he was there "just to see how the other half" lived. Similarly a Lindsay undecided voter shied away from the Echo camera, even as a prominent Victoria County Board of Education official urged the photographer on.

But at the bottom of the fanfare was serious business. Memberships sold briskly, and the frank talk about the next provincial and federal elections, and of the Tory convention this week, was rampant.

And the band played on.

Cathy Howe and Nancy Bagg. Seated are Kim Brown (left) and Gary Vanderstarren. The contest was held May 31.

Golf gets a grant

Sheffield Greens of Bobcaygeon will receive a $36,760 COED grant, in order to help build a nine hole golf course near the village.

The four people hired, limited to those whose unemployment insurance benefits have run out, will help establish a nine hole golf course, including the leveling of grounds, development of fairways and an irrigation system and the renovation of a barn for use as a club house. The announcement of the grant was made last week by federal Minister of State Paul Cosgrove.

"In our April 19 budget, the federal government pinpointed development of facilities to promote tourism and recreation, which is a billion dollar industry in this country. In addition this project will require the expertise of a number of tradesmen who have been hard pressed by the current economy," said Cosgrove.

Sheffield Greens will contribute $65,000 toward the gross $101,760 cost of the project.

Work is expected to commence in the near future with those jobs created lasting an average of 25 to 28 weeks.

Typists do well

A large group of high school students fared well in the HHSS typing contest held May 31.

Third prize-winners were Marilyn Cully, Kathy Shipley, and Kelly Linkert. Second prizes went to Doug Schell, Connie Handy and Cathy Howe.

First prizes went to Gary Vanderstarren, with 34 words per minute; Kim Brown with 42 wpm, and Nancy Bagg with 73 wpm. Haliburton's Stedman's store, Haliburton Pharmacy, and the Pizza Place all donated prizes.

Elgin Stouffer, who as county council member on the executive represents all townships, was asked to bring a full report on his statement relative to county council directing activities.

Children's Services Representative G. Lewis reported that Michael Wood is now installed as coordinator for Children's Services for Haliburton County, with an office in the Drag River Building, Haliburton. They are looking for a volunteer to act as secretary to the advisory board.

"The pessimist grumbles because God put thorns on roses; the optimist thanks God that he put roses where there were thorns."

No mudslides, no floods or no tornadoes; and for this we are thankful. However, we would appreciate a spell of dry weather, so it would be possible for those who have clay soil to get into their gardens. There are so many conflicting predictions for the summer, weatherwise, some good and some bad that we will just have to keep our fingers crossed. Spring is really bursting out with beautiful blossoms filling the air with sweet perfume as well as being a sight to behold.

We have some new residents in the village. They are Gerhard and Susi Schlenker, who are the new proprietors of the beautifully situated Lumberjack restaurant, in the center of Dorset next to the water by the channel. They started their activities by holding a buffet dinner on Friday evening, entertaining friends and business associates to a delightful evening.

There was a variety of delicious foods, from a selection of hot d'oeuvres to mouth watering rare roast beef. If this was a sample of the cuisine to be served, the public is in for a pleasant treat. There were 80 guests served at the event. We welcome the Schlenkers to our community and wish them luck. The king and queen for Dorset Pioneer week, Ellen and Orrie Avery were present to head the line to the buffet.

The kick-off dinner for Pioneer Week is July 9. The tickets for dinner and dance are $15 and are available at the Dorset Garage and Tower Hill Marine. They will not be sold at the door.

The Ontario Senior Games were hosted by the North Bay senior clubs on May 29-30. Three couples from the Dorset Senior Club attended and report a very enjoyable time. There was something for everyone -- bridge, euchre, cribbage, golf, shuffleboard and bowling. It was very well organized, with shuttle busses to take you from one spot to the next, and lunch provided. Never a dull moment, in fact one member won second prize at euchre. So thanks to the North Bay clubs.

The Dorset Guide Company will be holding their annual mother and daughter banquet on Friday, June 10. Anyone with a little girl wanting to join Brownies is welcome to attend. You may call one of the guide leaders.

We send birthday greetings to Lorraine Weatherell who celebrates on June 8, Kate MacKay on June 9, Brad Robinson and Jack Clayton, June 6 and Joey Ruthkowsky who will be seven on June 14.

A bridal shower was held on Monday, May 30 at the home of Helen Avery, to honor Ronna Draycott. Assisting Helen as hostess was Mrs. Jude Speers. Ronna received many lovely gifts and the guests were treated to a delicious repast. Ronna was married to Bill Cunningham on June 4 at the Dwight United Church.

Doreen Robertson, nee Switzer, of Burlington, paid a short visit to Pearl and Albert Cary. She had just visited her mother, Katie Switzer, in Lindsay and brought a good report about her.

Barbara and Doug Higgins of Mississauga spent the last weekend with Barbara's parents, Pearl and Albert Cary.

Francis Hutchinson, who died in the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, was buried in the Glamorgan cemetery last Wednesday. Some years ago he lived on Highway 507 in Cavendish township. He is survived by his brother, George, and sister, Martha.

Helen McMullen, who has been attending Simon Fraser University in B.C. has returned to her Pine Lake cottage for the summer months. Welcome back, Helen!

Peggy Dermott has returned to her home on Wolfe Lake after a pleasant holiday in England and Scotland. She reports that it rained for more than thirty consecutive days while she was there. Congratulations to Bonnie and Craig Pettit on the birth of a daughter last Wednesday.

It is good to report that Lulu Dovell has been able to return to her home after a short stay in Haliburton hospital. We hope she continues to improve.

Hilliard Stoughton is out and around again after having been confined to Civic Hospital, Peterborough. His daughter and granddaughter are visiting him for a week.

Several attended the pot luck meeting of the Northern Pastoral Region "Cluster Club" in the basement of the United Church last Tuesday. Among those present were Pat Thorne, chairman; Rev. Henry Gaetz of Pembroke; Rev. and Mrs. Clive Wilson of Apsley. The study was led by Mrs. Snider of Apsley.

The Gooderham school pupils just completed their unit on the Circus and recently visited a circus in Peterborough. This culminated in a live presentation of a circus at the school on Friday afternoon. Greeting us as we entered were the two teachers Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Miller; disguised in their clown costumes.

Of course no one can enjoy the circus without popcorn and balloons which were sold at the door.

The classroom was suitably decorated with a mural and other circus themes. Latecomers found standing room only.

The ringmaster, attired for his part and with his whistle, announced the various acts and these included monkeys on their cycles; terrible tigers in their cage, sometimes reluctantly performing for their trainer; clumsy jugglers; the daring duet on the tight rope; and Jeannie's trick dogs.

Several bands provided marching music with their rhythm instruments. An added attraction showed a more senior member of the band with a tambourine. Upon removal of his mask, we recognized our MPP John Eakins who sportingly complemented the band.

A mini circus with puppets, amazing acrobats, and Mickey's Famous Kangaroos were among the acts performed also in the one-ring circus. Janice Manley showed his amazing strength in weight lifting while Cory Hunter was declared winner in a boxing match.

Much laughter was created at the "Birthday Party" of two children who had two other children hidden under the blankets they wore. It was hilarious when they reached out, only arms seen to feed chocolate ice cream to those in front with disastrous results.

A final bit of fun was the magic act when Mrs. Bailey, with her occult powers, took off Mrs. Miller's shirt. Hats off to our teachers for their efforts in making this a fun-filled afternoon for everyone.

A Fellowship of Faith weekend, organized by representatives of local churches, will be held June 17 to 19 at Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre, Wilberforce. This is an interdenominational lay endeavour to make our faith real and vital.

On Saturday, June 18, at 5 p.m., following a pot luck supper, Rev. R. Rumball, a former professional football player and now minister of the Evangelical Church of the Deaf in Toronto will be the speaker.

The evening program will consist of country gospel music and singing with local and professional talent.

On Sunday at 11 a.m. Rev. Henry Getz will conduct the service.

A baby shower honoring Cindy Manley Billings took place in the Pentecostal Church on Friday evening. The mother-to-be received many beautiful and practical gifts for which she showed her appreciation.

The happy evening concluded with a lunch highlighted by a cake suitably and tastefully decorated.

Hail to the conquering hero! Yes folks, Norland has once more had an opportunity to strut its stuff. Last Tuesday, May 31 Norland Public School defeated Cobocok, Burnt River, Kirkfield, and Kinmount at the Northern Schools track and field meet. The first and second place winners will travel to Lindsay next week to participate in the Victoria County Track and Field meet.

The kids travelling to Lindsay from Norland are Stacy Eason, Tracy Davis, Jean Harrison, Kelly Graham, Lisa Cooper, Jim Rior-den, Diana Brown, Tracy LeCraw, Lisa Kay, Vincent Eason, Lenny and Quentin Greer, Sandra Robertson, Danny Potter, and Tom Brohm.

I have good news for all you bingo freaks; bingo will once more be starting at the Norland Community Hall. The first game begins at 8:00 on Monday, June 27. They will continue afterwards once a week at the former time and date.

Alex and Helen Graham from Norland recently returned from a five-week trip to Ireland. They had a fabulous time, staying with relatives in Ballvclare.

On Monday, May 30 grades K-4 from Burnt River, Kirkfield, Kinmount and Cobocok went to the Burnt River Recreation Centre to hear Chris and Ken Whiteley, a popular children's singing group. It was held in conjunction with the Victoria County Spring Arts Festival.

Ken and Chris not only introduced them to the various instruments but showed how many different sounds they could make and showed them how to make instruments at home. As a finale they had the children on stage playing the homemade instruments.

The number one song on 1050 CHUM for the week starting May 27 was once again "Let's Dance" by David Bowie. Looks like I'm not the only one who loves the song!

The euchre scores for Thursday, June 2 were as follows -- ladies high, Dorothy Brown; men's high, Norm Shorter; ladies low, Jean Barker; men's low, Mike Puterbaugh; lone hands, Don Barker.

Well, that's all for this week. Remember my number is 454-3707.

The winner of Shirley Harrison's Wintario ticket was Florry Dredge.

Co-operative education -- a great idea

by MARTIN BIEFER
Echo Editor

It's education with a new twist -- a way to keep kids from leaving school early.

The co-operative education program, run through the auspices of the Haliburton County Board of Education, has met with success again this year.

According to John Fitzgerald, the program's co-ordinator, response this year "has been super" from local businesses. Indeed, over 25 Haliburton County businesses have acted as employers in the program.

The program blends in-school instruction with on-the-job experience -- so that learning and experience are, according to the Board, "combined in an educationally beneficial way."

Students who successfully complete both components are eligible for credits from the high school.

The employers, explained Fitzgerald, don't necessarily have to pay the students -- but can give them an "honourarium" at the end of their term. If a student finds his or her own job (rather than being placed by Fitzgerald) they can, if the job qualifies, keep any money they might earn while getting a high school credit.

Employers have been extremely cooperative, and have "handled any problems, and given the students second chances."

"What we're basically trying to do is to give kids...a feel for what it's like to work," explained Fitzgerald.

What's also being taught are good work habits. "Most of the students have summer jobs...but not necessarily with these same employers," he said.

They are taught to "look around, and find out what's going on...and to show a little initiative."

"We want to teach them perseverance. Sometimes you might not like your job at a particular time...and sometimes, you might not like it at all -- but if you need it, you've got to go with it," said Fitzgerald.

As students advance through the various levels of the high school, they are given more incentive to use the program. In the early years, they may spend a few days a term on the job -- but by the end, if they have followed through on the academic side, they can spend half a school year working.

Courses are designed to supplement that on-the-job

work in the kitchen at Extendicare. Peggy Bowman, at top right, has been working at Extendicare as well. Here she polishes off some pictures in the hall. Wayne Coates (bottom right) has been at work in Extend-icare's office. At the far right is Tina Rivers, who has been working in the laundry room at the nursing home. All the students the Echo talked to have enjoyed -- and benefitted from -- the co-operative education program.

portion. Students are instructed in how to search for jobs, how to fill out applications, how to deal with interview situations, how to use local newspapers, and much more, said Fitzgerald.

This year the program has again attracted about 30 students, he said.

Co-operative education is of particular value to students who just aren't getting enough out of the regular education system. As well, they are not used to the rules of on-the-job life.

For many of the students, aged 14-17, the co-operative program offers them their first work experience.

"They've got to learn, for example, that you can't get to work and have a coffee or a cigarette whenever you want," he said.

The in-class segment has been run as "a school within a school" and Fitzgerald praised HHSS principal Dale Robinson and HCBE Director of Education J. Douglas Hodgson for their support.

Employers are required to file progress reports on the students, and students fill out daily reports on what they've been doing. The purpose is two fold -- to give school officials a good idea of what's going on, and to teach students how to draft performance reports for future job opportunities.

The co-operative employers for 1982/83 include Jim Andrews of Western Tire, Haliburton; Chris Lynd of the Rails' End Gallery, Haliburton; Vince Connaughan of Stedman's, Haliburton and Minden; Eric Edwards of Shamrock Shell, Haliburton; Bruce Bounsall of Haliburton Auto Body, Haliburton; Al Mahaffy of Mahaffy Upholstery, Haliburton; Charlie Meeli of Frontier Motors, Minden; Merv Elstone of El-

THE HALIBURTON COUNTY ECHO AND MINDEN RECORDER

Kinmount Korner

by MILLIE MOSS

Hi there!
Roy and Eva Dunbar enjoyed the company of family, Robert and Renee of Detroit and Bob and Lois Dunbar, of Kalamazoo, Michigan over the May 28 weekend at their RRI Norland home.

Sorry to hear Roy Dunbar has been suffering with a bad shoulder. Awaiting x-ray results doesn't really help, does it Roy?

Thank you to all who helped in any way to make the UCW bazaar and salad supper the success that it was on Saturday, May 28. There were many new faces and that's always nice to see.

Zita Elizabeth Williamson would like to say thank you for her birthday party and to all who made her special day a happy one. I stopped by for a visit one day last week with both Mrs. W. and with Ruby Schell and saw all the beautiful cards these ladies received for their birthdays. I hope, when I reach their ages, (in about five years) I'll have that many good friends.

Verlie Young wasn't in the best of health last week and here's hoping she's much better by now.

Ken and Jone Hyams drove to Toronto Tuesday, May 31 to pick up daughter, Susan Williams of Hawaii. We had the distinct pleasure of meeting Susan on Friday last before she, her dad and mom, drove back to Toronto where Susan was to board a plane for a number of places in the States, ending up with California. Sounds like a terrific holiday.

A big welcome home to Helen and Alex Graham who have been visiting in Northern Ireland for the past six weeks. Bill and I drove to Toronto airport June 1 to meet them. We hadn't been there in a few years and what changes in that time! We drove in to park and before we knew what was happening we were headed out of the airport again. Bill found himself, not once but twice in the Departures area instead of Arrivals.

A redcap steered us to the centre island of two roads that only have one way traffic. Bill came down the one side and was promptly told to move on which he did, leaving the three of us and a pile of luggage. He stopped further down the road and asked directions, can you imagine? Here we are, all within sight of one another and Bill can't get to us because of two roads running the same way and one of them for taxis obviously.

He had to drive out and around and of course got lost again so it was another half hour before he got back to us and by that time a lineup of busses, cars and vans had formed so we lugged the baggage all the way back to our car. I think Alex was ripped off in the tip he gave that redcap! Helen and I had gone back inside at one point and ended up climbing flight after flight of stairs. It was impossible to get onto an elevator. They were jammed with people. Apparently some five or six planes had come in almost at the same time from various points overseas. While Bill and I were waiting for Helen and Alex we stepped onto an elevator and were the only passengers but when we got to the floor we were to stop at - that's just what we did - stop! The door didn't open. We didn't panic, Bill just pushed buttons real fast which made the car take us back down a floor, back up where we wanted and voila - the door opened and we stepped out. You think this was all enough? Not when you're talking about anyone from our family! We drove to daughter Bonnie's place in Weston to have tea before heading home where Bill parked in the visitors underground. He headed on in and next thing we know seven or eight strangers are yelling at us to "hurry up because the man in there is holding the door" for us. Of course, Bonnie is at work, we don't have a key and you catch the door as someone else goes through.

There was only one minor problem, we couldn't get Helen out of the car. She was literally locked into the seatbelt and it just would not let go. In the meantime these strangers are still telling us to hurry. I said "my sister can't get out of the car" and the one lady answered "oh, we'll get our car out of your way right away." I answered back that it wasn't their car that was the problem but our back, left seatbelt. Helen is busy trying to get loose and telling me to "shut up" and in quick as a wink we had an audience. Helen finally got the belt up over her head and one man said "if you were stopped for not wearing a seat belt, the police would never believe this story." We at last got onto the apartment elevator with another occupant who told us he hails from Bancroft. Small world! We were very pleased to see Norland and Kinmount that night it's needless to say. It just was not a good day.

Five ladies and a gent turned out to dig, pull weeds, plant flowers, water same and be eaten by blackflies, in our town last Thursday evening. The Kinmount and area Horticultural Society has done it once again. Why not become a member today? The Scottish Rites Supper was held at the Canadian Legion Branch 441, Kinmount, last week.

Here's a recipe from the Memorial University of Newfoundland Extension Service: Lake Trout with dressing: 2 lbs. lake trout fillets, 2 tsp. salt, four cups dry bread crumbs, one tsp. mixed poultry seasoning, 1/2 cup minced onion, 4 tbsp. butter or fat. Wipe fish fillets with damp cloth. Sprinkle with one teaspoon of salt and place in a greased baking dish. Mix dry bread crumbs, poultry seasoning and one teaspoon of salt. Saute onions in melted butter or fat and add to breadcrumb mixture. Arrange stuffing over fish and put a cover over the dish. Bake at 400 degrees Fahrenheit, allowing ten minutes per inch thickness of fish. Remove cover after 10 minutes to brown dressing. (Serves six).

"Fair weather to you and snow to your heels," means good luck on your way. Another saying from my Fat Back and Molasses from Newfoundland and Labrador.

Sorry to hear little Adam and John Hill were on the sick list last week.

Wednesday, June 1, a few local girls enjoyed a delicious lunch and card games at the home of Ernie and Vivian Anderson, Dagmar Simpson, Stella Hartin, Gladys Silver, Gladys Bowman and Verna Crego say "thanks Viv."

Happy second birthday to little Miss Landa Crego on Thursday, June 2.

Happy birthday too, to Glen Bowman, May 30.

Guests at the home of Dot and Joe Crego for a few days last week were daughters Connie Crego and Bonnie Mulock, Doug and grandchildren: Serena and Sue Ellen Crego and Joel and Jennifer Mulock. Dot and Joe's son Ward was also a welcome guest. They hail from Minden, Woodville and Toronto.

Congratulations to Richard and Sandra Crego of Kinmount upon the birth of their healthy 9 lb, 7 oz son at Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay last week. I'm told his name may be Joshua Richard Bryan.

There will be an open house tea to be held Sunday, June 26 from 2:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Kinmount Community Hall in honor of our retiring school principal, Isabel Austin. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. All the very best is wished for you in the future Isabel.

Wilberforce News

A mother and daughter banquet was held on Monday, May 30 when the girl guides and the brownies met at the Memorial Centre. This marked an important moment for Brownies Robin Lee, Rene Casey and Jennie Anderson with their fly up to Guides.

The Commissioner from Haliburton was on hand to award badges earned and reward those with perfect attendance. Long service pins were presented to faithful leaders who had been part of the organization since its conception. Pins were received by Roberta Walsh, Mary Barker and Donna Burroughs.

Jan Watson, who has worked as a guide helper, received a baby quilt, made by the girls, for the beautiful new arrival at the Watson home.

An amusing skit, with characters taken from Sesame Street, had been prepared by the guides introducing the well known Big Bird, Grover, Oscar and the Cookie Monster.

Mary Barker and Donna Burroughs shared a nostalgic moment over a framed gift on which numerous mementoes were mounted. A reminder of past experiences while working with the Girl Guides.

Special thanks to the mothers who organized the banquet - Ann Werner, Jill Lee and Lorraine Casey.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 624, Wilberforce, held their nomination and election of officers May 26 with Jean Murney of Peterborough, District Zone Commander, presiding. Officers for the coming year are -- President Rocky Welsh, first vice president Sally Mather, second vice president Phyllis Bowen, secretary Carol Young, treasurer Phyl Gallen, Olive Atkinson appointed Sgt. at Arms and Ruby Yates sports officer.

Past president was Chris Buxton. The food convening committee to be appointed at the general meeting.

A lovely buffet luncheon was served at the conclusion of the elections. Don't forget the progressive euchre sponsored by the ladies of the auxiliary Friday evening at 8 p.m. on June 10 and the buffet supper at the Legion at 6 p.m. on June 11 ($3.50 a plate).

Also at the Legion -- cribbage every Wednesday at 8 p.m. sponsored by sports officer Clem Peters and bingo every Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The Shriners were in town. The monthly dinner meeting of the Kawartha Shrine Club of Peterborough was held in Wilberforce at the Lloyd Watson Centre Wednesday evening June 1. In attendance were 175 plus Shrine members and guests, hailing from Peterborough, Lindsay, Lakefield, Keene, Campbellford, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bancroft, Haliburton, Harcourt, Belleville and Wilberforce.

The speaker, who gave an outstanding address on his work and association with deaf and handicapped children, was the Rev. Robert Rumball, former Ottawa Rough Rider and founder and rector of the Evangelical church of the deaf on Bayview Ave. in Toronto.

Rev. Rumball spoke most stirring of the trials and tribulations met in the course of his work, and of the rewards beyond riches that were his through his connection with these fine young people, who being given the opportunity to develop, helped those round about them to grow and mature.

The Kawartha Club of Rameses Shrine Temple of Toronto alternates its monthly meeting throughout its Peterborough jurisdiction, and was most fortunate in having Rev. Rumball as guest speaker through the efforts of Director Jerry Howarth, and assistant Rabbis Floyd Walker of the Rameses Divan.

Shrinedom is universally recognized for its work with crippled and burned children in its hospitals and burn institutes, as well as its philanthropies through the clubs.

The Reverend Rumball will be returning to the area later this month when the United Church will be holding its 'Festival of Faith,' organized by Rev. Maurice Bradley.

At the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre from Friday, June 17 at 7:30 p.m. through to Sunday, June 19 the interdenominational Fellowship of Faith weekend takes place. The theme will be -- Taking Jesus to the market place. (Mark 16:15 -- Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature.) Friday evening will be a time of coming together, of praise and worship. Saturday, June 18 at 9:30 a.m. will be a full day of teaching sessions, children's programs, challenging messages, sing song, Bible study and worship. Services for the whole family. Guest speaker Saturday night will be the Rev. Bob Rumball. We all enjoy a pot luck supper at 5 p.m. In the evening a program of country gospel music with local and outside talent.

Sunday, June 19 at 10 a.m. will be fellowship, prayer and praise, worship service and communion. Guest speaker will be Rev. Henry Getz; closing at 12:30 p.m. Bingo games begin at the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre on June 16. These games are sponsored by the Monmouth Firemen and will be held throughout the summer. New starting time is 7:30 p.m.

has indicated he is sympathetic to raising the legal age. The Premier has indicated that it may be more appropriate to attack the problem at the community level. The government's main concern is shown only in December when the RIDE program was launched. Then, just as the House rises for Christmas, an order-in-council

Mr. and Mrs. Val Johnson of Toronto called on the Max McKays last week in their new motor home and all four decided to take a few days to visit Petawawa to visit the Tulks. On their way home a large deer suddenly jumped on the highway and hit the side of the motorhome causing considerable damage; not a very happy way to end its first trip out.

Young Jennifer Graham enjoyed herself thoroughly Friday at the Gooderham school. The youngster took part in a trained dog act that highlighted a circus, performed by students and staff. There was one catch, of course...the "dogs" were actually fellow students in costume.
